

Become an Infection Control Superhero

Washington Project Firstline is offering a series of training modules for professionals who work in long-term care facilities. These online, interactive modules will train and prepare long-term care workers to become infection control superheroes who can reduce the spread of disease at work and home.

The modules cover the following six topics:

Infection Control	Germ: Surfaces	Germ: Respiratory
Hand Hygiene	PPE	Cleaning & Disinfecting

Each module includes training materials, videos, interactive scenarios and short quizzes that encourage staff to engage with the information presented. The modules are educational, informative and fun, and take approximately 20-minutes each to complete.

Staff who complete all six modules will earn continuing education credits for two contact hours through the Washington State Department of Social and Health Services and a two-contact hour CNE certificate through Continuing Nursing Education at the University of Washington School of Nursing.
